Nutritional Statement

To the best of our knowledge, the nutritional content of flavor and fragrance chemicals do not contribute to the nutritional value of flavors because they are used at extremely low concentrations. Therefore, our products fall under an exemption published in the code of federal regulations, 21CFR 101.9(a)(j)(4)), which states as follows:

(a) Nutrition information relating to food shall be provided for all products intended for human consumption and offered for sale unless an exemption is provided for the product in paragraph (j) of this section.

(j) The following foods are exempt from this section or are subject to special labeling requirements.

(4) Foods that contain insignificant amounts of all of the nutrients and food components required to be included in the declaration of nutrition information under paragraph (c) of this section... Examples of foods that are exempt under this paragraph include coffee beans (whole or ground), tea leaves, plain unsweetened instant coffee and tea, condiment-type dehydrated vegetables, flavor extracts, and food colors.
